

Reasonable Adjustment Policy

Policy Code: STU-045Version: 10.0Effective Date: 18 February 2023

Purpose

The College is committed to providing reasonable adjustments to ensure equal opportunity and participation for students with a disability or mental health condition that may affect the student's learning experience.

This Policy outlines the College's commitment to support all students with a disability or mental health condition in accordance with the obligations outlined by the Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Commonwealth Disability Standards for Education 2005.

Use of the term "course" – for the purposes of this policy, the term course should be deemed interchangeable with the terms "training package" and "accredited course".

Use of the term "subject" – for the purposes of this policy the term "subject" should be deemed interchangeable with the term "unit of study" and incorporates units of competency within a unit of study.

Scope

- All students - domestic and international, VET and higher education
- All campuses (including online learning)
- Prospective students enrolling in the College
- All academic, training and student services staff (including contractors)

Policy Statement

The College recognises the individual needs of students and respects the rights of all students to participate inclusively and fully in all facets of the College experience in particular the access and equity of student engagement outcomes. This applies to prospective students at admission and enrolment into study, participation of enrolled students in all subjects and courses, and the use of College facilities and services.

The College is committed to providing opportunities and access to students with a disability or mental health condition that are comparable to students without additional needs. The following Policy Principles are consistent with the College's legislative responsibilities, and demonstrate the College's commitment to access and equity for all students.

This policy should be read in conjunction with the Access and Equity Student Handbook which outlines many of the processes referred to in this policy, and the Disability Policy, which outlines the College's commitment to support all students with a disability or mental health condition.

Policy Principles

The Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act 1992 includes a requirement for academic environments to be free from discrimination on the grounds of disability. This Act makes it unlawful to discriminate against a person on the grounds of a disability. The Act is supported by the Disability Standards of Education 2005 which clarify and elaborate the legal obligations in relation to education.

An essential consideration for the College is the principle of 'reasonable adjustment'. This principle is enshrined in the Act and it asserts that wherever possible, necessary and 'reasonable' to do so, the usual policy or practice will be varied to meet the needs of a person with a disability or mental health condition.

The principle of reasonable adjustment is therefore central to practices and processes that guide the College in making reasonable adjustments to assessment for students with a disability or mental health condition while maintaining the academic integrity of its subjects and courses.

The College is committed to:

- the promotion of and adherence to the principles of the Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act 1992 and the Disability Standards for Education 2005
- providing all students with access to the College's Access and Equity Program (AEP) and Student Wellbeing Coordinator for consultation via LMS > Help> Consultations> Wellbeing and for advice and information via Student Services Advisers located on each campus
- the provision of reasonable adjustments to accommodate the needs of students with a disability and / or mental health condition.

For information on reasonable adjustments for students with English as a Second Language, refer to the relevant English Proficiency Policy – HE or English Proficiency Policy – VET.

Key Terms Defined

Disability – the College defines disability in accordance with the Commonwealth Disability Discrimination Act 1992. As used throughout this Policy, disability shall refer to all illnesses, mental health, medical conditions and other conditions.

A student with a disability refers to an enrolled student of the College with a disability that in relation to a person means:

- a total or partial loss of the person's bodily or mental functions; or
- total or partial loss of a part of the body; or
- the presence in the body of organisms causing disease or illness; or
- the malfunction, malformation or disfigurement of a part of the person's body; or
- a disorder without the disorder or malfunction; or
- a disorder, illness or disease that affects a person's thought processes, perception of reality, emotions or judgement or that results in disturbed behaviour; and includes a disability that:

- presently exists; or
- previously existed but no longer exists; or
- may exist in the future; or
- is imputed to a person;

resulting in a reduced ability to access educational services provided by the College including assessment tasks and requirements for reasonable adjustments and/or support services to address these barriers.

To avoid doubt, a disability that is otherwise covered by this definition includes behaviour that is a symptom or manifestation of the disability.

A disability is not defined as:

- A student who is pregnant,
- A student that is a full-time carer of a person that may have a disability,

While the above examples are not categorised as a disability, the college recognises that students may seek support throughout their studies if circumstances change, should a student's studies be impacted by the above circumstances the college has Special Consideration that a student can access by submitting a case for extensions / or considerations via the Student Portal > Special Consideration and Academic Appeal. Refer to the Special Consideration Policy.

Reasonable Adjustment - The College defines reasonable adjustment in accordance with the Commonwealth Disability Standards for Education 2005, subsection 3.4:

An adjustment is a measure or action (or groups of measures or actions) taken by the College to assist a student with a disability or mental health condition to participate in education and training on the same basis as other students. The measure or action taken by the College that has the effect of assisting a student with a disability to:

- apply for admission or enrol in a program (course);
- participate in the course or program; and
- use the facilities or services;

on the same basis as a student without a disability or mental health condition and includes an aid, a facility, or a service that the student requires because of his or her disability.

An adjustment is reasonable if it achieves this purpose while taking into account the student's learning needs and balancing the interests of all parties affected, including those of:

- the student with the disability
- the education provider (the College)
- staff
- other students.

Reasonable Adjustment

Reasonable adjustment is an adjustment made for students with a disability or mental health condition. Generally, an application for reasonable adjustment is made at the time of a student's initial enrolment, however, a student can make an application at any time during their enrolment. Reasonable adjustments are made to ensure students have the opportunity to successfully complete a subject or course.

Reasonable adjustments are made to ensure that students are not presented with artificial barriers to learning or demonstrating learning in their studies. The nature of reasonable adjustments is such that they are designed to minimise the disadvantage experienced by students with a disability or mental health condition, rather than provide students with a competitive advantage.

It is important to note that all higher education degrees have Inherent Course Requirements which are related to contact with a client in a practical or clinical setting.

- The Inherent Course Requirements for all degrees, including online offerings, must be met prior to enrolment and throughout the duration and course of study.
- The Inherent Course Requirements outline the cognitive, communication, behavioural and interpersonal skills, sensory tasks, WH&S and client safety considerations, manual / physical tasks, practical tasks and digital and information technology literacy, required for each course.
- At the beginning of their studies, it is important that students understand the requirements of practitioner-based degrees and clinical practice expectations.

- The Inherent Course Requirements will not be compromised when considering reasonable adjustments as these requirements are important preparation for practice and ensuring that the graduate is both confident and competent in their ability to treat members of the public.

Provision of Reasonable Adjustment

Students are eligible for reasonable adjustments if they have a disability and / or mental health condition. The College will provide reasonable adjustments to eligible students, these adjustments can include but are not limited to the physical environment, teaching delivery and format, assessments and utilisation of assistance equipment.

Prospective and enrolled students should contact the Student Wellbeing Coordinator at their earliest opportunity to ensure that reasonable adjustments can be made available within required timeframes.

- It is important that students engage in this process and have the responsibility for identifying appropriate solutions as the College recognises that students themselves are best placed to understand their conditions and capacities and manage any conditions in line with study commitments.
- Prospective students who disclose a disability or on application to the College may require further consultation with the relevant Head of Department / National Program Manager, VET (or delegated authority) to discuss the Inherent Course Requirements / training package requirements prior to enrolment. In such an instance, pertinent case details will be revealed to the Head of Department / National Program Manager, VET. A student is required to meet and adhere to all the Inherent Course Requirements / training package requirements before enrolment and throughout a course of study.
- Students with a disability and / or mental health condition will be required to meet and discuss any potential need for reasonable adjustments with the Student Wellbeing Coordinator upon disclosure and registration with the Access and Equity Program.
- Privacy note: only the Student Wellbeing Coordinator, the National Student Success Manager, the National Quality, Governance & Compliance Manager (International Students) and the Director of Student Services and Retention will have access to personal information provided by participants in the Access and Equity Program; this may include medical information.
- Provision of reasonable adjustment is dependent on complete and adequate documentation from a Qualified Medical Professional being provided by the student to substantiate a disability and / or mental health condition.
- All documentation must outline, recommend and qualify the need for individual accommodations and reasonable adjustments in a learning environment.
- Students who register with the Access and Equity Program are requested to meet with the Student Wellbeing Coordinator = at a minimum once per calendar year (12 months) to confirm ongoing reasonable adjustments, and to remain registered with the Access and Equity Program.
- The end date of an Access and Equity Reasonable Adjustment Program for a permanent disability and / or mental health condition is the same date as the expected course finish date. The annual review meeting will assess any changes in circumstances or adjustments that may need to be considered in order to maintain the Reasonable Adjustment Plan (RAP) conditions and registration of the Access and Equity Program. If there is no change to the condition, this meeting will be to assess the RAP in place. If there is a change in condition further supporting documentation will be required to advise any additional adjustments to support the student.
- A fluctuating or temporary disability and / or mental health condition is reviewed every 6 months and / or a review is aligned with the expected end date of the temporary condition as advised by the Qualified Medical Professional

- A temporary RAP will be assessed, and the student is required to meet with the Student Wellbeing Coordinator as part of a review. This review will determine the completion of the RAP or the extension based on further medical documentation provided. If there is no change to the condition, a letter from the original Qualified Medical Professional is required advising that existing reasonable adjustments are still required to support the student. If the original Qualified Medical Professional is not able to provide the supporting documents or if changes are required, Part B of the Access and Equity Program Registration Form is required to be re-submitted.
- The end date of a RAP for a temporary disability and / or mental health condition is based on the medical documentation provided and the recommended review date provided by the Qualified Medical Professional. The temporary RAP will be assessed at the due date and the student is required to meet with Student Wellbeing Coordinator as part of a review. This review will determine the completion of the RAP or the extension based on further medical documentation provided. If a student is unable to provide supporting documentation when required registration in the Access and Equity program will be removed.

Determination of Reasonable Adjustment

The College aims to create and maintain a learning experience that is inclusive of the needs of the students with a disability and / or mental health condition and which optimises their participation, retention and success through accessible and equitable learning, teaching and assessment practices.

Whether an adjustment is reasonable will be determined in accordance with the Disability Standards of Education 2005. This will involve taking into account all the relevant circumstances and interests, including:

- The student's disability and / or mental health condition.
- The effect of the proposed adjustment on the student and on anyone else affected, including the College staff and other students.
- The adjustments to assessment for a student are to be made in such a way as to ensure that the fundamental nature of the assessment remains the same i.e. students with a disability and or mental health condition are still required to demonstrate a predetermined level of ability in relation to essential subject and course requirements.
- The standard rules and policy on assessment and teaching are still applied and assessment is only varied where a student can demonstrate with appropriate documentation that they are disadvantaged as a result of a disability, and / or mental health condition.

Adjustments shall be made on an individual basis. In assessing whether a particular adjustment for a student is reasonable all relevant circumstances will be taken into account, including the following:

- The student's disability and / or mental health condition and any barriers, needs or challenges that may affect the student throughout a subject or course.
- The impact/s of a student's disability and / or mental health condition, as described by the students, on their studies.
- The advice provided by the Qualified Medical Professional / Qualified Specialists (e.g. medical report, test results, supporting documents) to support the student's application.
- The views of the student or the student's advocate.
- The assessment type.
- The effect of the adjustment on the student's independence and ability to achieve the professional learning outcomes and participate in their subjects and course.

- Whether the adjustment creates an undue advantage for the student, or an undue disadvantage for another student the effect of the proposed adjustment on anyone else affecting including the College, staff, other students and any other stakeholder.
- Whether the adjustment will impact on the academic standards or Inherent Course Requirements / training package requirements.
- The costs and benefits to all parties of making the adjustment including possible impacts on College capital expenditure and/or operational budgets.
- The 'willingness to pay' the costs associated with the adjustment on behalf of either party.
- The Inherent Course Requirements of the course.

The College is not obligated to make any adjustment or accommodation that may impose an unjustifiable hardship on the College. Students with a disability and / or mental health condition may be required to provide additional medical or specialised documentation to substantiate the reasonableness of the adjustment.

The bearing of costs associated with reasonable adjustment will be negotiated with the student at the time of the Reasonable Adjustment Plan being established:

- In general, if the student requires a support person in a classroom or regular clinic situation (e.g. as a note-taker/scribe), any costs associated with the appointment of that support person will be borne by the student.
- Where there are multiple options for reasonable adjustment determined, the option that is least costly to the College will be determined the most appropriate to implement.
- The College supports reasonable adjustments in assessing the outcomes of academic subjects and courses undertaken by students with a disability and / or mental health condition through the use of alternate strategies.
- These strategies are put in place when such students are prevented by their disability and / or mental health condition from participating in the same manner as other students under standard assessment and learning conditions.

It is the responsibility of the College, in consultation with the student, to identify those elements of a course that affect the student's ability to participate on the same basis as a student with a disability. This may require reasonable adjustments to teaching and learning materials, teaching methodology and assessment.

Reasonable adjustments are made to ensure that students are not presented with artificial barriers to learning or demonstrating learning in their studies.

Reasonable adjustments can include (but are not limited to):

Technology

- The use or loan of adaptive/assistive technology or specific equipment for use by students to enable them to undertake their study/assessment in a fair and equitable manner (e.g. seating, on campus PC); or
- A recording of the lecture will be provided for subjects with an online or livestream delivery (practical and clinical classes will not be recorded).
- An audio recording of other classes is at the discretion of the subject staff with consent of other students in the class.(video recordings are not permitted).
- Assessments/Assignments
- Alternative methods of assessment (e.g. verbal assessment, mode of questioning, mode of response); or
- Individual conditions of assessment (e.g. seating arrangements, additional time / breaks per hour, toilet / rest / exercise breaks, bite sized food, drink, snacks); or

- Accessible learning formats (e.g. large print materials, coloured exam paper for practical exams); or
- Reasonable adjustments to assessment conditions may include extended time for theory-based exams or alternate arrangements for practical assessments, which may also include an extension of time for the practical assessment; or
- Allowing extended periods of time for undertaking assessment tasks
- Allowing extended period of time for undertaking practical tasks, where the extension does not compromise the inherent requirements of the task.

Extension time limits

- A copy of the redacted RAP may be used to seek extensions prior to the due date of the assignment where the extension is requested due to disability and / or a mental health condition. The maximum extension time will be 14 days, (two calendar weeks).
- If you require an extension and the application is submitted on or after the due date, students are required to provide a current medical certificate to support this request. A copy of the redacted RAP will not be sufficient for approval of applications on / after assignment due dates.
- For a second extension request beyond the initial extension, students are to Refer to the Special Consideration Policy.
- Students can apply for Special Consideration via the Student Portal > Special Consideration and Academic Appeals

Attendance Requirements

- Attendance requirements may be reviewed based on presenting condition.
- To request an attendance waiver of a theory class, a copy of a redacted RAP can be used to support this request.
- Attendance waivers for practical and clinical classes will not be approved and a student is expected to complete clinic make up classes. Refer to the Attendance Policy.

Examinations

- Use of separate examination rooms; or
- Adjustment to print size/font/paper colour for practical exams; or
- Extra rest time during examinations; or
- Scheduling considerations (e.g. time of day); or
- Modification to practical examinations (where applicable and appropriate); or
- Modifications to extra time in examinations (e.g. an extra 30 minutes maximum).

Environmental Considerations

- Seating arrangements (e.g. front of the classroom, seating adjustment).
- Lighting and/or sound requirements.
- Reasonable adjustments to learning resources or teaching methods may include providing a student with a visual impairment with larger font handouts.
- Reasonable adjustments to a learning environment may include using accessible teaching settings for students with a physical disability.

General Support

- Referral to additional counselling services (e.g. Talk Campus); or
- Referral to additional external counselling services (e.g. Reachout, Beyond Blue, HeadSpace)
- Referral to attend academic support sessions (e.g. PASS sessions, additional tutorials, academic consultations via LMS> Help> Consultations> Academic Supervisors)).
- Referral to regular usage of Studiosity

It should be noted that:

- The College does not provide a scribe in examination or quiz environments in order to ensure the integrity of the examination or quiz process. The student is able to provide a scribe - this person will be approved by the Director of Education.
- Negotiation of reasonable adjustments will occur through consultation with the student, the student's advocate, the Student Wellbeing Coordinator), the relevant Head of Department / / National Program Manager, VET and the National Student Affairs / Success Coordinator / or related staff that are able to support reasonable adjustment requests.
- Where a student is unable to meet the learning outcomes of a subject / unit of study or inherent requirements of the course, even with reasonable adjustment, the student may be required to meet with the Head of the Department / National Program Manager, VET and / or the National Student Affairs Coordinator to review the Inherent Course Requirements / training package requirements. Subject to meeting these requirements for the course an alternative course may be suggested or an administrative withdrawal from the course may be recommended. Refer to the Leave of Absence, Variation of Course and Withdrawal Policy – Higher Education or the Deferral and Withdrawal Policy - VET.

Notwithstanding the above, an adjustment is not reasonable if it would:

- Compromise the integrity of the subject, or course or assessment requirements and processes.
- Remove or bypass any learning outcomes of the subject or the Inherent Course Requirements / training package requirements.
- Impose unjustifiable hardship on the College.

Exceptions

- Exemptions or exclusions from assessment tasks on the basis of disability and / or mental health condition is not a reasonable adjustment as the College is entitled to maintain the academic requirements of the course, and other requirements or components that are inherent in or essential to its nature.
- The College is not obligated to provide adjustments for a student who chooses not to disclose a disability or and register with the Access and Equity Program.
- The College is not obligated to provide adjustments for a student who chooses not to provide certified documentation from a Qualified Medical Professional or treating specialist to support Access & Equity Program registration.
- The College is not obligated to make any adjustment or accommodation that may impose an unjustifiable hardship on the College.
- The College cannot compromise the academic standards or Inherent Course Requirements / training package requirements.

Disclosure

The College expects students to disclose relevant information about circumstances that may impact their capacity to undertake their studies for the purpose of making reasonable adjustments. At the College we encourage students to apply for Access and Equity when they enrol at the college or as soon as practicable after a change in circumstances.

The purpose of disclosure is not to exclude students from opportunities but to:

- enable access to a safe environment, with appropriate adjustments, minimising their exposure to risk and risk to others.
- support students to be clear about the reason for making the disclosure and what they are required to disclose to receive the support they require.
- allow students in exercising their duty of care to advise staff in a timely manner of their needs in relation to their disability, including assessment related adjustments. If the College is not advised in a timely manner, then it may not be able to provide a student with reasonable adjustments. In such instances it may be appropriate for a student to seek special consideration as per the Special Consideration Policy – Higher Education or Special Circumstances Policy - VET.

To assist with the identification of appropriate reasonable adjustments, including adjustments for assessment, the College requires students with a disability and / or mental health condition seeking adjustments to supply appropriate supporting documentation about the nature and impact of their impairment/medical condition in the learning environment. Such evidence must be an accurate reflection of the student's current impairment/medical condition and may include medical or other professional advice, reports from previous educational institutes or government and community agencies.

In some instances, a detailed independent expert assessment may be required in order to determine the nature of the adjustments that are appropriate for an individual student enrolled into a specific course.

Documentation

Students who request Access and Equity related services or adjustments will be required, in a timely manner, to provide appropriate documentation from a Qualified Medical Professional.

Supporting documentation should be provided by students to support their disability and / or mental health condition and must be dated and signed by a Qualified Medical Professional outlined in the conditions section of this policy.

Documentation should be:

- No more than 2 weeks old for temporary conditions.
- No more than 6 months old for fluctuating conditions.
- Yearly for ADD/ADHD (unless considered permanent by the assessing specialist).
- No more than 3 years old for a learning disability – a psychometric report with a tertiary/adult emphasis.
- Unrestricted for a permanent disability.

In addition, the documentation provided should be specific and:

- State the disability and or mental health condition.
- Outline the impact on the student.
- Indicate whether the disability is permanent, temporary or fluctuating.
- If a condition or disability is temporary, the documentation should specify the timeframe for which the student is expected to be affected, the nature of the condition and the limitations on the student's performance.

- A statement indicating the severity of the condition and whether the disability is permanent, fluctuating or short-term or if the disability needs to be reassessed after a period of time (e.g. every 6 months, yearly).
- A clear statement of the condition, including diagnosis present symptoms and whether the condition is mild, moderate or severe in nature.
- Only interim support (generally up to a maximum of one semester) will be available if your General Practitioner makes a diagnosis in psychological or emotional impairment/difficulties.
- If you have a Learning Disability, then recent and comprehensive testing must have occurred, and the reports must be submitted with your application.
- If a learning disability exists with another disability, and the student requires allowances for both disabilities, then diagnostic evidence of all disabilities must be included in the report(s).
- Standardised assessment of current levels of aptitude, achievement and information processing. Clear and specific evidence and identification of a learning disability. Individual 'learning styles' and 'learning differences' do not constitute a learning disability.
- Supplementary medical information on letterhead may be requested to clarify the impact of the disability or condition on the student's capacity to meet academic requirements within the tertiary education context.
- Recommend reasonable adjustments and/or suggestions that may act as a guideline to negotiate suitable academic adjustments for this student.
- Clearly identify the health professional and their credentials.
- Be legible, on the College required forms and medical certificates, additional supporting documents to be provided on a letterhead, dated and signed by a Qualified Medical Professional.

Specific learning disabilities and / or mental health conditions may require further supporting documentation such as:

- Actual test scores and interpretation of these results.
- Evidence of comprehensive age-appropriate testing and all test scores. (Testing using the Wechsler Intelligence Scale for Children (WISC) is not acceptable for students 21 years and over).
- A comprehensive diagnostic interview that includes academic, developmental, family, and psychosocial history.
- A statement of the strengths and weaknesses that will affect the student's capacity to meet academic demands and recommendations relevant to the College environment. Recommendations should be based on objective evidence of limitations in learning and supported by test results.
- Documentation should be no more than 3 years old unless the assessment and report has been conducted in adulthood. At age 21, it is considered that the student has reached cognitive maturity.
- Visual impairment/difficulty the amount of residual vision present and whether the impairment is permanent, fluctuating, or short-term. The type of visual impairment such as cortical, eye injury, optic nerve should also be included.

If the documentation and supporting documentation does not detail these points, it will be very difficult to get the support that you may be requesting.

The College's request for this information is in compliance with the minimum standards and operational guidelines as outlined in the Students with Disabilities: Code of Practice for Australian Tertiary Institutions (1998). The College requires students where necessary to demonstrate or supply certification of the functional limitations of their disability as a basis for requesting reasonable adjustments to be applied to their chosen course of study.
