SECTION 2 – ACADEMIC DETAILS

Subject Rationale

This subject provides students with clinical practice experience. Working in pairs or individually each clinic student is expected to professionally manage patients. Clinical supervisors expect students to manage the consultation process and provide them with an accurate Chinese medicine diagnosis, prognosis and construct and implement a sound treatment plan. Clinic students will perform treatments on clients using acupuncture, moxibustion and other Chinese medicine techniques. By subject conclusion students will have developed further confidence in clinically managing patients.

Learning Outcomes

1. Consistently apply Endeavour College clinic code of ethics, policies and procedures.
2. Consistently apply professional Chinese medicine knowledge and skill to questioning, clinical investigations (e.g.: tongue and pulse), TCM diagnosis, principles of treatment and prescription, prognosis and identified treatment.
3. Consistently apply appropriate skills in the application of acupuncture, moxibustion and allied acupuncture techniques in consultation with patients and specific to their requirements.
4. Consistently apply appropriate professional, ethical and legal requirements and / or considerations to clinic practice and management, ensuring adherence to record keeping and infection prevention and control guidelines when implementing strategies to ensure quality assurance and risk management in clinic practice.
5. Compare and contrast various acupuncture treatments sourced from research and classical texts appropriate in individual cases to improve overall treatment efficacy and prognosis.
6. Develop a coherent argument for the utilisation of specific acupuncture treatments for individual cases.
7. Apply safe and effective acupuncture treatments.
8. Critically evaluate the outcome of each individualised treatment based on follow-up feedback from the patient.
9. Communicate effectively with clients / patients, their carers and families ensuring patient involvement in structuring a treatment plan in managing their presenting health issue, identifying any risks and benefits of each option to allow informed decision making.
